(9) Rationale (State the research problem and significance of the project to the current needs of the country. The proposal should justify resource expenditure. A typical justification would include a brief introduction, a general statement concerning the historical basis for R & D and, thrusts being addressed, utilization of the expected output and the impact information generated will have on science, the target users and the country.)

Language changes constantly, and this large change is brought by societal demands. It molds the patterns and norms according to its time and that it continuously changes to adapt to the standards of the society (Saqib, A., Dkhar, A., D’Souza, H.N., Baksi, R., 2021). Today, people are more accepting and welcoming when it comes to gender- preferences which means that gender- inclusive language should be used more often compared to the traditional one which were very gender- specific (Alonde, M. , Bitancor, R. , Dagatan, F. , Estrella, N. , Lobo, A. , Villanueva, M. , Alitagtag, J. , Ramos, A. A. & , E. 2022).

With the technological advances and diverse environments, language too is constantly changing and evolving especially when APA had published in their seventh journal that the pronoun “they” is already acceptable as singular third person. This shows that stereotypes are being slowly eradicated and inclusivity is being promoted. This change narrowed the gap between different genders and respected the identities of those who strictly do not identify themselves as male and female. Different nomenclatures of the gender- fair language had been coined, but it generally refers to the usage of nouns and pronouns which represent all genders (Garcia, J. 2021).

Language attitude is considered influential on language manipulation and change, thus it is important to determine the gap between the sexes’ attitude towards neutralizing the English language which was believed as the culprit of the gender- exclusive language (Remegio, M.T.R., & Talosa, A.D., 2021).

As language is the most important tool in communication, especially in globalization where different culture, tradition, values, and beliefs mix, it is important to use inclusive language that does not discriminate or create biases. As future educators, education students should be able to use gender- inclusive language in instruction as to not isolate and discriminate their students, but to treat them highly with respect regardless of their gender.

This study is in support to Sustainable Developmental Goals Numbers 4 and 5 which are Quality Education and Gender Equality, respectively. Hence, the goal of this study is to find out the attitude and the knowledge on the usage of gender- fair language of the education students.

(9-A) Project Description (Discuss the project strategy and plan of action of the project. It should also describe the technical procedures and other works needed to carry out the project objectives. The relationship of the project inputs and activities should be explained clearly in this section. Projects similar/related to the proposed project should be mentioned. .)

(10) Objectives/Statement of the Problem (for Social Sciences) (Statement of the specific purpose to address the problem areas of the project.)

This study would like to find out the attitude of the education towards the usage of gender- fair language, particularly answering the questions:

1. What is the attitude of the education students toward gender-inclusive language as a whole and when grouped according to:
 - a. belief
 - b. recognition
 - c. willingness
2. What is the score of the education students on the gender- inclusive usage quiz?
3. Is there a significant relationship between the attitude and the score for gender inclusive language of the education students when grouped according to the selected profile?
4. Is there a significant difference between the attitude and the score for gender inclusive language of the education students when grouped according to the selected profile?

(11) Review of Literature/Prior Art Search (Related researchers/activities that have been conducted. State-of –the-art of current technology / information from which the project proposal will take-off).

It is very challenging to translate from notional gender to grammatical gender languages, but it is seen as a need as more people are coming out as non- binary (Lardelli, M., 2023). Gender- inclusive language aims to weaken gender stereotypes and to increase the linguistic representation of all genders. To reach this goal, there is a representation of existing words from specific to gender- inclusive, like policeman being replaced with police officer (Schunack, S. & Binanzer, A., 2022).

There is also a correlation between the age of men and women when it comes to sensitivity to sexist language and willingness to use the non- sexist one. It was suggested that younger people were more sensitive to sexist language compared to their older counterpart. It may be so because they were born after the women’s movement and had grown up in a world where gender- equality is being promoted (Nagle, T., 2008).

In the late twentieth century, gender- fair alternatives were introduced to counter gender- exclusive generics. These focused on paired forms where masculine and feminine forms were paired, or in gender- neutral form reducing gender information (Sczesny, et. al., 2016, as cited in Vergoossen, H.P., Renström, E.A., Lindqvist, A., et. Al., 2020).

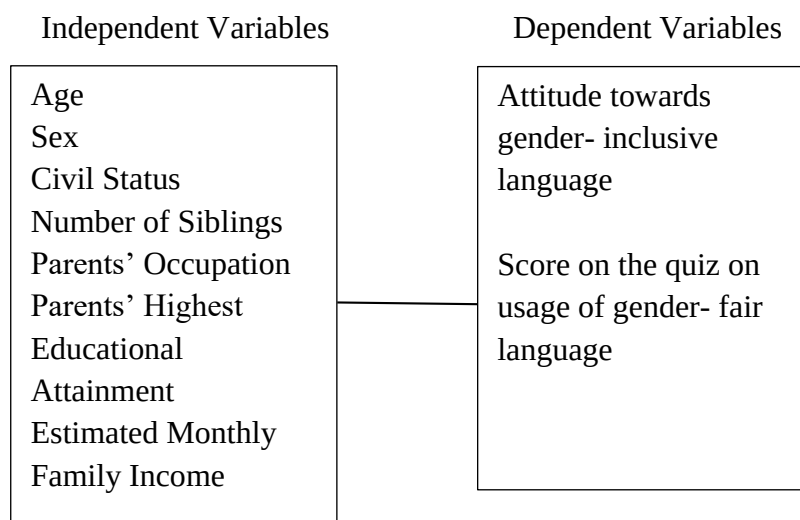

(12) Scientific Basis/Theoretical Framework (Include concepts. theories and variables that indicate relevant relationships to be tested.

This study is anchored to Social Constructivism learning theory Lev Vygotsky in 1968. This theory emphasized that language and culture are the bases on how humans communicate and understand reality, also it also recognizes knowledge, since groups of people need language, is not just socially constructed, but it is co- constructed (Akpan, V.D., 2020). This study is also standing with Sapir Whorf Hypothesis developed by Edward Sapir in 1929 who stated that world perception and experience is influenced by the language they speak (J.A. Lucy, 2001).

Conceptual Framework

(13) Methodology (Details such as; a) variables to be measured and evaluated; b) treatments to be used and their layout; c) experimental procedures and design; d) statistical analysis; e) evaluation method and observations to be made, strategies for implementation.)

Research Design

The descriptive design, where the researcher does not manipulate variables, only observes, and measures them, will be used in this study. The study will also utilize the causal- comparative method to draw relationships, differences, and conclusions and variables involved in the research.

Respondents

The respondents of this study are BEED students of CAPSU Pilar who will be chosen through stratified random sampling.

Time and Place of the Study

This study will be conducted at CAPSU Pilar during the 2nd semester, A. Y. 2023- 2024.

Research Instrument

The research instrument to be used in this study would be the Inventory of Attitudes toward Sexist and Nonsexist Language by Parks & Robertson (2000, 2001) ($\alpha=0.80$) which has high internal consistency.

A researcher- made questionnaire on the knowledge on the usage of gender- fair language will be utilized. The questionnaire will undergo face validation and reliability test to ensure internal consistency before its implementation.

Data Gathering Procedure

The researcher will construct permission letter to be approved by the Satellite College Director and the Campus Research Chair to allow the conduct of the study. Once approved, the researchers will personally administer the questionnaires to the target respondents. After the questionnaires were answered, those will be collected, and the data will be tallied and analyzed statistically using the SPSS software.

Ethical Considerations

The respondents can withdraw their participation anytime in the duration of the collection of data as it is purely voluntary and does not involve any monetary compensation. The data collected and personal information of the respondents will only be used for the sole purpose of this research.

Statistical Data Analysis

The collected data will then be processed using the Statistical Package for Social Sciences (SPSS) software.

Frequency Count and Percentage. This will be used to determine the number of respondents in very year level.

Mean. This tool will be employed in determining the attitude towards gender- fair language of the respondents.

Standard Deviation. The homogeneity and heterogeneity of the scores and variables will be derived from this.

The data will undergo normality test (Kolmogorov-Smirnov Test and the Shapiro- Wilk Test). When the data turns out normal, parametric tests will be used. Otherwise, non-parametric.

Pearson r/Spearman's Rho correlation. To determine the relationship of the variables. Pearson r (parametric) or Spearman's Rho (nonparametric) will be used.

t-test/Mann-Whitney U test. t-test for independent samples (parametric) or Mann-Whitney U test will be used for comparison of the differences of two groups.

One-way Analysis of Variance (ANOVA)/Kruskal-Wallis Test. Set at 0.05, this will determine the significant difference among groups. When the data turns out to be normal, then ANOVA will be used. Otherwise, Kruskal-Wallis test its non-parametric equivalent will be used.

(14) Major Activities/Work plan (Enumerate in chronological order the task to be undertaken. Use gantt chart.

Research Objectives	Feb	March	April	May	June	July
1. Distribution of Questionnaire
2. Analyzing of the collected data
3. Writing of the final paper
4. Making of the instructional materials
5. Seeking approval from the IMs committee for the usage of the materials

(15) Expected Output (Indicate the specific products, processes or services which the project is expected to produce; quantify when possible)

The expected output for this study would be the student development of gender-inclusive instructional materials in English and Mathematics subjects, specifically Purposive Communication and Mathematics in the Modern World.

(16) Technology Transfer Activity Design (Indicate the specific products, activity design, processes or services to be transferred as extension activities)

(17) Target Beneficiaries (Who the clienteles are and what are the expected outcome/effects of the use of the projects output)

The target beneficiaries of this research are the teachers and the students of the BEED Department of CAPSU Pilar. For the teachers, they may be more open to the diverse students in the institution and would be encouraged to make gender- inclusive materials in other subjects. The students will also benefit from this study as they may

Dear Respondents,

The researchers are currently conducting research entitled, “EMBRACING INCLUSIVITY: GENDER- FAIR LANGUAGE ATTITUDE AND USAGE OF TEACHER EDUCATION STUDENTS”. In line with this, we would like to request for your time to fill out the questionnaire for the collection of the data in this study. Rest assured that the data and the personal information asked in this study will be treated with utmost confidentiality and will be used solely for this research.

Respectfully yours,

Part II. Inventory of Attitudes toward Sexist and Nonsexist Language by Parks & Roberton (2000, 2001)

Please use the following definition in answering these questions:

Sexist language includes words, phrases, and expressions that unnecessarily differentiate between females and males or exclude, trivialize, or diminish either gender.

SECTION A

For each of the following expressions, please choose the descriptor that most closely corresponds with your beliefs about language:

(1 = strongly disagree; 2 = tend to disagree; 3 = undecided; 4 = tend to agree; 5 = strongly agree)

	Document Type:	FORM ISO 9001:2015	Document Code	RES-F09

1. Women who think that being called a “chairman” is sexist are misinterpreting the word “chairman.”	1	2	3	4	5
2. We should not change the way the English language has traditionally been written and spoken.	1	2	3	4	5
3. Worrying about sexist language is a trivial activity.	1	2	3	4	5
4. If the original meaning of the word “he” was “person,” we should continue to use “he” to refer to both males and females today.	1	2	3	4	5
5. When people use the term “man and wife,” the expression is not sexist if the users don’t mean it to be.	1	2	3	4	5
6. The English language will never be changed because it is too deeply ingrained in the culture.	1	2	3	4	5
7. The elimination of sexist language is an important goal.	1	2	3	4	5
8. Most publication guidelines require newspaper writers to avoid using ethnic and racial slurs. So, these guidelines should also require writers to avoid sexist language.	1	2	3	4	5
9. Sexist language is related to sexist treatment of people in society.	1	2	3	4	5
10. When teachers talk about the history of the United States, they should change expressions, such as “our forefathers,” to expressions that include women.	1	2	3	4	5
11. Teachers who require students to use nonsexist language are unfairly forcing their political views upon their students.	1	2	3	4	5
12. Although change is difficult, we still should try to eliminate sexist language.	1	2	3	4	5

SECTION B

Are the underlined words and phrases in the following sentences sexist?

Please choose the response that best corresponds to your beliefs about these sentences.

(1 = not at all sexist; 2 = probably not sexist; 3 = undecided; 4 = somewhat sexist; 5 = definitely sexist)

13. People should care about all mankind , not just themselves.	1	2	3	4	5
14. The belief that frogs will give you warts is just an old wives’ tale .	1	2	3	4	5
15. If a child wants to play the piano well, he must practice hard.	1	2	3	4	5
16. Alice Jones should be chairman of our committee.	1	2	3	4	5

SECTION C

Please choose the descriptor that most closely describes you in the following situations.

(1 = very unwilling; 2 = reluctant; 3 = undecided; 4 = somewhat willing; 5 = very willing)

17. When you are referring to a married woman, how willing are you to use the title “Ms. Smith” rather than “Mrs. Smith”?	1	2	3	4	5
18. How willing are you to use the word “server” rather than “waiter” or “waitress”?	1	2	3	4	5
19. How willing are you to use the expression “husband and wife” rather than “man and wife”?	1	2	3	4	5
20. How willing are you to use the term “camera operator” rather than “cameraman”?	1	2	3	4	5
21. How willing are you to use the title “flight attendant” instead of “steward” or “stewardess”?	1	2	3	4	5

Part III. Gender- Fair Usage Quiz (this will go validity and reliability test) (Item 1-7 are from Peck’s English Pointers, 2023)

Determine if the sentences below use gender- inclusive language. Check the column “Sentence is Correct” if the sentences use gender- inclusive language and check the column “Sentence Has a Problem” if otherwise.
